

The direct geometric model aims to calculate the end-effector coordinates (position and orientations) as a function of the joint variables of the mechanism